The Energy Leadership Index (ELI) is an extremely unique assessment that effectively measures your energetic impact on yourself and the world around you. It measures 3 specific things:

- 1) Your level of engagement in many areas of your life-personal AND professional
- 2) Your level of awareness, and,
- 3) Your level of ability to effectively lead yourself and others.

This assessment will ask you to rate how closely you identify with a series of statements and, based on your responses, it is then able to determine how much energy you have on each of 7 Levels of Energy. You will learn how much energy you have at each level as well as what your Average Resonating Level of energy is.
