The Energy Leadership Index (ELI) is an extremely unique assessment that effectively measures your energetic impact on yourself and the world around you. It measures 3 specific things:

- 1) Your level of engagement in life - personal and professional.
- 2) Your level of awareness.
- 3) Your level of ability to effectively lead yourself and others.

This assessment will ask you to rate how closely you identify with a series of statements and, based on your responses, it is then able to determine how much energy you have on each of 7 Levels of Energy. You will learn how much energy you have at each level as well as what your Average Resonating Level of energy is.

Become an Ideal Leader in life and in your career
